DOJ,

It's about time the government (DOJ) stops harassing Microsoft. Isn't it enough the harassment they have from their competition? It's a tough world out there, when you don't have the privileges of being a public servant.

Microsoft is responsible for thousand of jobs in the States and worldwide. Microsoft made computing accessible to everyone, at a time when Motorola, Apple, Netscape and others were selling their products to a select group of people who could afford their prices and conditions.

How can you criticize Microsoft for their policies, when the government policies are, some times, even dirtier and deadly?

Stop this case at once and dedicate all your efforts in protecting the States from the internal and external enemies, not from people who want to make America big.
